Publication of Financial Soundness Indicators – Banks and Licensed Finance Companies

The Central Bank has released ‘Financial Soundness Indicators’ as a key tool for communicating the performance of banks and finance companies supervised by the Central Bank. The publication includes key ratios and financials used in policy analyses for identifying strengths and vulnerabilities in the financial system.

The publication presents sectoral financial information such as assets, liabilities, earnings, profits and capital whilst providing key ratios associated with each category. This publication will be a useful and reliable source of reference for those who are interested in the performance of major financial institutions in Sri Lanka.

The Financial Soundness Indicators publication is available in electronic form and can be accessed through the Central Bank website:
