

Weekly Economic Indicators

10th September 2021

Highlights of the Week

Real Sector

During the first seven months of 2021, domestic tea production increased notably in comparison to the corresponding period of the previous year owing to favourable weather conditions. Production of rubber also increased in response to high market prices while coconut production increased considerably due to the lagged effect of favourable weather conditions prevailed during latter part of 2020.

During the period under review (04.09.2021 to 10.09.2021), crude oil prices showed a mixed performance. At the beginning of the period, prices increased as US Gulf of Mexico output was halted after the Hurricane Ida. However, prices fell later, due to strong US dollar and weak demand in the US and Asia. Towards the end of the period, prices fell further due to China's plan to release state oil reserves and smaller than expected drawdown in US crude supplies. Overall, both Brent and WTI prices fell by US dollars 0.28 per barrel and US dollars 0.35 per barrel, respectively, during the period.

Monetary Sector

Weekly AWPR for the week ending 10th September 2021 increased by 27 bps to 6.28 per cent compared to the previous week.

The total outstanding market liquidity was a deficit of Rs. 162.778 bn by the end of this week, compared to a deficit of Rs. 181.720 bn by the end of last week.
