Highlights of the Week

Real Sector

During the period from 02 to 06 November 2026, crude oil prices exhibited a sharp decline as talks between Iranian and Qatari officials raised hopes of an end to the US–Israeli conflict with Iran, while investors also assessed the potential positive impact of the US midterm elections on peace talks in the Middle East. However, the decline reversed towards the end of the period amid renewed attacks on oil tankers, which heightened concerns over potential disruptions to oil supplies. Overall, Brent and WTI crude oil prices decreased by US dollars 18.03 and US dollars 13.38 per barrel, respectively, compared to a week earlier.
